Senate Obtains Right To Vote on Party Ban

The Student Senate will be able to vote on any recommendation which the Judiciary Committee makes about the continuation of Sunday morning parties during houseparty weekends.

Ken Kahn, president of the Senate, made this announcement at Monday night's meeting. He said that the Senate is not bound to accept any such report from the Judiciary Committee, as had been stipulated in the "compromise proposal" made to the Senate last week. The fourth provision of the original plan, proposed by Associate Dean Sidney Wertimer and the Faculty Committee on Student Activities, stipulated that "the Senate, on the weight of the committee's decision, will be bound to prohibit Sunday morning parties." The Senate, at a meeting last Thursday night, changed the proposal to allow the Senate to vote on any recommendation. The faculty group accepted the amended plan.

Kahn said that if complaints about Sunday parties arise from chaperones, the Judiciary Committeneighbors, the Judiciary Committee intends to study them and the events which prompted them. If the committee decides, on the basis of such complaints, that Sunday parties are undesirable, it will recommend to the Senate that Sunday parties be abolished. Kahn said that the Senate should carefully weigh such a report and should consider any future action on the basis of such a report.

The second matter discussed at the Senate meeting was the social position of Alpha Delta Phi following the Choir party of Feb. 9 at the AD house. Kahn said that the faculty had put AD on social probation until the resumption of classes after spring vacation. He explained that this meant that AD could have no organized parties and no women in the house until Apr. 9.

Al Howard asked if the faculty Committee on Student Activities had based its decision on the same information which the Senate had received about the party. Kahn replied that it had, but he added that the faculty thought that the recommendations of the Judiciary Committee were not strong enough and it had therefore decided to overrule the Senate.

Kahn restated the three provisions under which 2 a.m. parties may be held during this houseparty weekend. The door must be unlocked at all times, at least two couples must be present in the room, and failure to comply with the provisions will result in the loss of room party provision permission and/or social probation for those involved.

Kahn also noted that the fourth provision presented to the Senate at its meeting on Feb. 12 — that the applicant for room party permission extend to Associate Dean Wertimer an open invitation to attend the party—was excluded from the current provisions. He said that the particular stipulation was considered too ambiguous and was therefore dropped.

A further revision of social rules was the reduction of application hours for room party permission from 48 to 24 hours. Realizing that many students get weekend dates at the last moment, Kahn said, the Judiciary Committee will continue to press for room party permission which can be given on Saturday for a party that evening.

Count To Relate Results of Study

Dr. Earl W. Count, professor of anthropology, will speak on The Lactation Complex at 8 p.m., Thursday, Feb. 28, in the biology lecture room. Hamilton's chapter of Sigma Xi, the national honorary science fraternity will sponsor the lecture.

Count's lecture will be based on research he began in 1951 on a grant from the National Institute of Mental Health of the Health, Education and Welfare Department. Count was on leave from the College last year to work on the project in California.

In 1958 Count published a report entitled The Biological Basis of Human Social Behavior in American and German journals.

Count said he has taken a "wholistic" approach to the relationship between the mother and her offspring. His study includes anatomy, biology, physiology psychology and social and instinctive behavior.

Faculty Approves Junior Year Plan With Princeton U.

The Faculty, at its meeting on Monday, Feb. 11, approved a program which will allow a Hamilton student to spend his junior year at Princeton University to study one of the critical languages offered—Arabic, Persian, Turkish, Chinese, and Japanese.

The program was recommended by Prof. Marcel Moraud after he attended a conference at Princeton in December. The purpose of the conference was to discuss the necessity and the feasibility of such a program. Some fifteen colleges were invited to participate in the program.

Under the plan, a student will study both the language he elects and sufficient non-language courses to make up a full year's academic load. During his senior year, he will be able to continue his study in the language by independent study.

The faculty, in approving the plan, concluded that it offers an excellent opportunity for a "few, gifted students to acquire competency in a language which could not from a practical point of view be taught at Hamilton." They also noted that "the excellence of Princeton as a place for both language and non-language study is unquestioned."

The faculty had approved at its January meeting a recommendation of the Committee on Studies that History 21-22, History of the United States, no longer be taught as a regular class-room course. This week, the faculty adopted a plan which provides that incoming freshmen will be able to receive advanced placement credit for the course if they score satisfactorily on the American history test of the College Examination Board.

DANCER — Pictured above is a member of the Don Cossack Chorus and Dancers, who will perform tonight at 8 p.m. in the Chapel. The group will sing several Russian folk songs and some church music, and it will also perform the famous Cossack Dance.

Faculty Group Penalizes AD, Censures Choir for Hill Party

The Faculty Committee on Student Activities, at its meeting on Friday, Feb. 15, voted to place Alpha Delta Phi on social probation until spring vacation and to send to the Choir a letter of censure.

Both actions were taken because of the conduct of both groups at a party at the Alpha Delt house on Saturday, Feb. 9.

The action against AD was taken "in view of its (AD's) failure to discharge its responsibilities to its members by prevention effective correction, or subsequent punishment of those who misbehaved." The faculty committee decided upon this punishment only after the Senate on Thursday night had rejected the Judiciary Committee's proposed punishment of a modified social probation.

The faculty group also passed a motion of censure against the Choir "for its evident failure adequately to discharge its obligations to its guests on the weekend of Feb. 8-10, 1963, and for its failure to accept its share of responsibility as hosts in the conduct of the party on Saturday night, Feb. 9."

The terms of punishment for Alpha Delt are as follows:

1)no women (except parents or wives of Trustees or faculty) will be permitted in the house during the period of probation;

2) no house-organized or sponsored parties (entertainment or alcohol provided by the house) will be allowed during the period of probation; and

3) if either of the above rules are violated, the period of probation will be extended for one year from the date of the violation.

Student Relates Duties Of Curriculum Group

—by Ty Brown

The Student Curriculum Committee—for those persons on campus who are unaware of its existence—is a student group, "operating under the jurisdiction of the Student Senate, which considers and recommends possible changes in or additions to the college curriculum." The committee is a permanent liaison between the faculty and student body on academic matters.

Al Korostoff, chairman of the committee, announced recently the appointment of three new members. They are Pete Lathrop, a junior; Dave Robinson, a sophomore; and Stan Fisch, a freshman.

Korostoff pointed out that the committee has recently dealt with a number of curricular problems at the request of both the students and the faculty. One difficulty facing the committee, however, is the failure of most students to contact the group with suggestions they may have concerning the College's curriculum.

Among the primary studies which the committee has undertaken recently is the Senior Study program. The committee gathered information on Senior Study from each department and compared this information with opinions solicited from senior majors. It then submitted to the department heads and to the Administration reports which evaluated the various Senior Study programs and made suggestions for changes.

Last semester the committee studied the freshman curriculum. After interviewing a number of freshmen, the committee concluded: (1) that academic burden of the freshmen is not excessive, (2) that the freshmen probably would profit from counciling on academics by capable upperclassmen during the orientation program in September, and (3) that the freshmen would profit also if the bulletin sent to them during the summer before they enter Hamilton were revised to include a more accurate description of courses.

The committee is now considering possible modifications in the present system of final examinations. The system used at Haverford is currently under study. (See Spectator, Feb. 1 issue.) The committee is also studying the possibilities of instituting an independent reading week and of requesting that the faculty curtail hour exams during the last week before final examinations.

Of course, as Korostoff noted, the Curriculum Committee can only suggest changes in and additions to the curriculum.

Recently, at the suggestion of a student, the committee requested of the Administration and of the department of government that History 11-12 be made an acceptable prerequisite for Government 21-22. Korostoff remarked that this request probably will be granted.

Hill Debate Club Reveals Schedule, Frosh Members

Russ Bantham, chairman of the Debate Club, described for the Spectator the results of two debate tournaments held this month. He also explained the club's plans for the remainder of the semester.

Lorin Nathin and Justin Kahn took part in a tournament at McGill University on Feb. 14-16, in which they competed against a large number of Canadian teams.

On Friday and Saturday of the same wekend, Jim Gifford, Bob Collings, Craig Collin, and Art Paul won five of eight debates in an international tournament held at Columbia University. The team debated on the national topic, Resolved: That the non-communist nations of the world should establish an economic community. Gifford, Collings, Collin, and Bantham debated yesterday at Utica College before an audience of about 100.

The club has planned debates with Brooklyn College, Hofstra, LeMoyne, Pace, C. W. Post, and NYU. Brandeis will host the national eliminations for this year.

Bantham also said that ten new freshmen are now in the club. They are Al Sigman, Bruce Littman, Jack Grubin, Bruce Corbett, Dave Cleveland, Steve Gleason, Dan Small, and Steve Steinberg.

Sculpture Judges

Mr. Rocco R. Fazio, Dr. Marcel I. Moraud, Mr. Charles L. Todd, and Mr. Warren E. Wright will serve as judges for the snow sculpture contest tomorrow morning.

Russian Troupe, Dance Band To Perform This Weekend

A Russion folk group and one of the nation's top dance bands will perform on the Hill for Winter Carnival, according to Mark Maxwell, the member of the social committee who has planned the weekend.

The Don Cossack Chorus and Dancers will present a concert at 8 p.m. tonight in the Chapel. On Saturday night, Si Zentner and his orchestra will play from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. in the Gymnasium.

The 24 Don Cossack performers, directed by 4'10" Serge Jaroff, will sing Russian church music and a number of soldier and folk songs. They will also perform the famous Cossack Dance.

The Chorus has travelled around the free world since 1923 and has appeared before more than 8,000 audiences. Among the numbers they will present tonight will be the Warriors Song, a Caucasian song about the lost fatherland, and Berrypicking, a comical song about a girl and her lover.

Also included will be Tchaikovsky's God Save the People, from the 1812 Overture, and Dark Eyes, an old Russian gypsy song. Two popular Russian songs and several spiritual numbers will also be sung.

Zentner has been rated one of the nation's top trombobnists by Cash-Box, and his orchestra recently received a number one rating from Downbeat magazine.

During the 1940's, Zentner played with several name dance bands, including Jimmy Dorsey's. He then signed with M-G-M and became first trombonist with orchestras appearing in several top motion pictures.

Zentner is currently working under contract with Liberty Records.

Following is a schedule of the weekend:

Aaron Burr Fund Obtains Donations From Majority

DT, the sophomore honorary society, last Tuesday conducted a drive for contributions to its Aaron Burr Fund. The object of the drive was to obtain as high a percentage of contributors as possible among the student body.

Tony Woodin, president of DT, announced that 84.4 per cent of the students had contributed. The sophomores had the highest percentage, 87.4, followed by the freshmen with 87.1 per cent. The juniors had a percentage of 84.1, and 78.8 per cent of the seniors contributed.

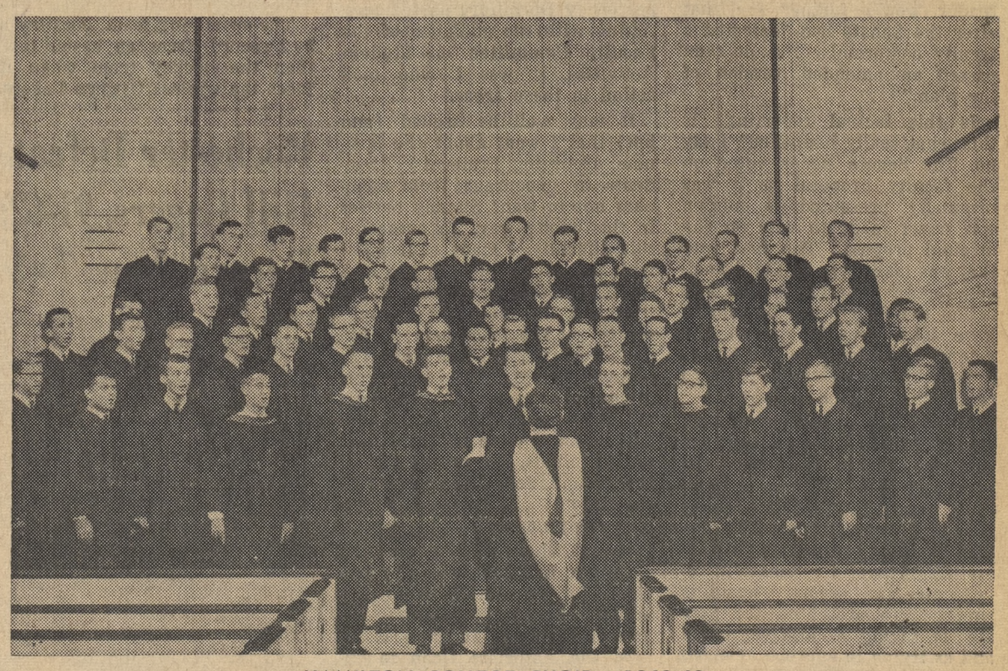
Woodin also named the three fraternities with the highest percentages of donors. Sigma Phi had 98.2 per cent, Theta Delta Chi 94 per cent, and Delta Upsilon 92.3 per cent.

Mr. Jeremy C. Jenks, '36, a member of the Board of Trustees and chairman of the Trustee group concerned with raising funds to meet the Ford challenge grant, has agreed to give to the College's Fund Drive an amount equal to that collected by DT. Woodin was unable to tell the Spectator the total amount of money raised.

NOTICE

This two-page issue is the regular news issue of the "Spectator." The annual humor issue will be distributed to fraternity houses tomorrow morning.

Choir To Take Spring Tour



HAMILTON COLLEGE CHOIR — 1962-63

Hamilton's Choir will leave campus on Friday, Mar. 1, to begin its third tour of the current school year. The tour will include concerts at Pingry School, Swarthmore, Bryn Mawr, and the National Cathedral in Washington, D. C.

On Friday afternoon, Mar. 1, the Choir will sing a joint concert with the Pingry School's Choir. The Pingry group is directed by Antoine deBurg, '53.

Friday night at 8, Hamilton and Swarthmore will present Schutz' A German Requiem. Both Choirs will also present individual selections. Peter Graham Swing directs the Swarthmore group.

On Saturday night, Mar. 2, the Choir will sing with Bryn Mawr's choir, which is directed by Robert Goodale. The groups will present Schutz' Requiem and individual pieces.

On Sunday at 4 p.m. the Choir will sing with Sweet Briar's Choir in the National Cathedral in Washington. The Choirs will perform the second movement of Schutz' Requiem, the third movement of Bach's Contata No. 79, and Oh, Clap Your Hands, by R. Vaughn Williams.

The Choir will return to campus late Sunday night.

Needed Service —

With its commencement of broadcast activities last Monday, WHCL-FM has begun what we think may be one of the most valuable student activities that has come to the campus in many years.

As a representative of the College, WHCL-FM has taken on the responsibility of helping the College to maintain good relations with the community. We feel, however, that its work could result in new cooperation between the College and the surrounding community.

Since the station is under the direct control of the Federal Communications Commission, it must live up to the high standards set by the government. Although as WHC the station was somewhat haphazardly run, those students who set up WHCL-FM gained much valuable experience from the old station.

Through its expanded facilities, WHCL-FM also offers an excellent opportunity for students to investigate, under the guidance of a well-trained staff, the many intricacies and opportunities of the rapidly expanding FM industry.

WHCL-FM has already demonstrated that it will offer its listeners a sufficiently wide variety of programs to satify most indi vidual tastes. As WHCL-FM expands its programming, we expect that interest in the station will increase both on and off the Hill.

We congratulate Allen Green and his staff for the patience and devotion that have at long last brought to the College community a service that has been needed for many years.

Letters to the Editor--

To the Editor:

In the "Progress or Regress" editorial of last week's Spectator, mention was made of a so-called "sharp break which has occurred between the students and faculty of the College." A "break" between two groups can be two of two kinds: It can either be a break based on the actual failure to resolve opposing viewpoints, or it can be a "break" that is based on a misunderstanding of relevant facts and of the respective positions of the two groups.

I feel that the second type of break will, in the future, become a frequent occurrance if the Spectator continues to report Senate proceedings as it did in last week's paper. Any student who glanced at the headline "Senate Rejects Party Proposal" would think that the Senate was almost in open rebellion against the faculty. Upon reading the first paragraph of this lead story, the reader would further see that after the Senate had "rejected a faculty compromise . . . it then passed an amended version of the plan."

Is this factual reporting? Is this what really happened? I say no. The Senate never voted on the faculty proposal as it was originally presented; a motion was never made to vote on the original proposal. The first vote that was taken was on the amended proposal. Therefore, the only action the Senate can be said to have taken was to approve the amended version; the Senate, as a body, never officially acted to reject the original proposal.

So why put a headline in such strong negative terms and say that the Senate "rejected" the proposal? Why not have a headline reading "Senate Passes Amended Party Proposal"? The first headline conjurs up for leaders the picture of a Senate in rebellion; the second headline would have presented the Senate as taking a positive action and as trying to approve as much of the faculty proposal as it could. Students read the headline as it was printed, misunderstand the true situation and the facts as they really occurred, and are then led to believe that a "break" exists between the faculty and the Senate merely because they see the word "rejects" where it never even belonged.

Come on now, Spectator. Whether the editor-in-chief or one of his associates is present at Senate meetings, the least you can do is to report Senate proceedings as they actually occurred and thereby help to eliminate "breaks" that are based on unfortunate misunderstanding.

George Bashian

To the Editor:

I would appreciate an opportunity to correct a mistake which appeared in the lead article in last week's edition, and which appeared also to creep into other items in the paper. While I feel sure that you and most responsible leaders on the campus are in reality clear on this point, it is very undesirable that any student labor under misapprehension about the lines of authority and responsibility concerning the students, the Senate, the Administration, the Faculty or the Board of Trustees.

Specifically, I wish to point out that the Faculty, as such, took no atcion with regard to Sunday parties or Dormitory party hours. Acting with the guidance of the Faculty Committee on Student Activities, it was I who took action in these areas.

It may well be argued (and has) that I went about the business of urging Fraternity Presidents to encourage their members not to want Sunday parties in the wrong way. To overcome this difficulty, I made a proposal with the advice of both the Faculty Committee on Student Activities and the Judiciary Committee to get the machinery of student government back into the picture. While there were misgivings about some of the details of its accomplishment, there does seem now to be a meeting of the minds. By no stretch of the imagination, however, could the Senate have "rejected a faculty compromise."

Hours when women may be permitted in dormitories are provided for in Article 5 of the Student Senate Regulations on Sociacl Conduct. Sectcion C allows the Associate Dean to extend these hours. I trust the extra privileges tentatively provided for this weekend will not be abused.

It should be clear to all, however, that "the general government and discipline of the undergraduates (is) committed to the President and the Faculty," and that the Board of Trustees has ultimately inherent authority over the College as a whole.

Sidney Wertimer, Jr.
Associate Dean

BLOCK THAT PUCK — Jeff Hennig (left) watches as goalie Frank Lloyd attempts to block a shot at the goal. Both men are members of the freshman hockey team, which completed a 1-5-1 season on February 9, when it lost to Northwood, 4-1. The visitors scored all their goals in the second period. Hennig tallied Hamilton's lone score in the final period of the game.

Varsity Teams To Compete On Campus for Houseparty

—by Bruce Rockwell

The physical education department is offering a full slate of home sports events for this house party weekend. The hockey team, playing a game this afternoon and one tomorrow afternoon,, carries the heaviest load. The swimming team will see action this afternoon at 5, and the basketball team will play tonight, at 8:30.

Hamilton's sextet crossed sticks with Merrimack College at 3:30 this afternoon to open the athletic program for the weekend. Merrimack went into the contest with a 5-6 record compared to Hamilton's record of 1-11-1.

Merrimack's Warriors have played three teams that Coach Greg Batt's skaters have also faced. New Hampshire,, victors over Hamilton by a score of 11-2, defeated Merrimack 3-2. West Point defeated the Warriors 5-2, but defeated Hamilton 5-0. The Warriors, coached by Jim Reynolds, lost to Norwich 7-4. In two contests, Norwich defeated the Continentals 15-2 and were held to a 4-4 tie.

Leading Scorer

The Warriors' leading goal scorers are Buzzy Miller and Bill Mahoney. Goalie Paul Downey has allowed only 4.3 goals per game so far this season.

Coach Batt pointed out that his skaters went into the Merrimack game as the underdog. He observed, however, that his team has shown improvement since the exam period. This improvement, it should be noted, has earned the team a tie and a victory in the last two games. Batt also noted that the team, which lost five members after exams, has worked hard to offset the personnel losses.

The swimming team, boasting a 5-2 record, faces an easier task than the hockey team when it faces the winless Oswego Lakers. The visitors' most recent loss was a 71-7 drubbing at the hands of the Harpur Colonials. Coach Roy Larson's boys defeated Harpur twice earlier this season by scores of 57-28 and 58-36. The Continentals defeated Oswego 74-21 last year. Oswego's coach, Bruce Dick, has a special problem in that he does not have enough men for all the events. Therefore he uses freshmen to complete the squad, but these freshmen cannot win any points for Oswego even if they place.

Seek Records

Coach Larson pointed out that several of his swimmers, including Bob Warner, Jerry Jones, and Dick Stebbins, will be swimming to break their own records in this, their last home meet of the season. However, the potential record-breakers will have to swim the race without any close competition, for there seems to be no one on the Oswego team who can push them in their attempt to break records.

Larson also announced that he will be swimming many of the team members who have not had many chances to swim this year. He wants to see how these swimmers have improved.

The Hobart Statesmen will move onto the gym floor tonight to face Ken Patrick's cagers. Hamilton trounced the visitors earlier this season in Geneva by a 76-58 score. Last season, Hobart downed Hamilton 89-61, but later suffered a decisive 90-48 beating at the hands of the Continentals.

Long Series

Tonight's game will be the 68th in a seires that dates back to 1904. Hamilton has won 34 and lost 33.

Hobart's coach, Al Antinelli, complains of a lack of height. His team captain and tallest player, however, is Mike Charpinsky, who is six feet three inches tall. Charpinsky, one of the four returning letermen, averaged 18 points per game last season. Pete Abbey is counted on for much of the scoring punch, and Jim Bayer aids Charpinsky under the boards.

At 3:30 tomorrow afternoon, the University of Pennsylvania and Batt's skaters will complete the weekend's sports program. Penn's hockey team is an improved club over the one that played here during last year's Winter Carnival, Coach Batt said. The game with Hamilton will be the fourth this week for Penn. They played at Williams on Monday, hosted Princeton on Tuesday, and will play at Colgate tonight. Perhaps Colgate will be able to tire them out a little bit tonight, for Batt said that his team will be the underdog in this game.

Hill Swim Team Loses to Union, To Meet U of R

Union topped Hamilton's swimming team last Saturday by a score of 61-34. It was Hamilton's second loss of the season. The Continental freshmen also lost to the Union freshmen, 44-14.

Coach Roy Larson stated that in spite of the loss, Hamilton men turned in some good times.

Larson pointed out that Chris Vickery, who won the diving and took a third in the backstroke, Jerry Gottlieb, who had a first in the 200 yard butterfly, and Dick Stebbins, with a first in the backstroke, all swam very well. He commented that Hamilton's sprint star, Bob Warner, although he lost to Union's Espenschied, swam well. The raec was so close that both men recorded the identical time of 51.7.

Despite the loss, Coach Larson was quite happy with the individual results, but said that it was just too much for us to expect to defeat a team as strong as Union this year.

On Saturday, Mar. 2, the Continental swimmers will round out the season in an away meet with the U of R. Rochester, which has a 6-2 record this season, lost earlier to Hamilton, 52-43.

Coach Larson said that Rochester has steadily improved since it was defeated by Hamilton.

Larson stated that Hamilton will have to be ready for Rochester's two big men, Walt Naumann, the holder of the Hamilton Alumni Pool record in the 500-yard freestyle, and Jim Scholss, who holds the U of R record in the 200 yard individual medley. He said that this Saturday's meet between the U of R and Brockport will be very helpful to him in planning Hamilton's strategy.

Rochester Defeats Hill Cagers, 91-62; Record Now 7-5

Hamilton's varsity cagers met defeat by a score of 91-62 in a game played against Rochester last Tuesday night on Rochester's court. The varsity's record is now 7-5.

In the varsity contest, Rochester dominated the boards all the way, according to Coach Ken Patrick. He said the Yellowjackets broke through the Continentals' zone with shots from the outside, and he cited Rochester's superior height as the main reason for the loss.

Warren Palmer was top scorer for Hamilton with 24 points. Ken Palmer netted 18 points, and Dave Grubin "played a good floor game," according to Patrick. Jim Sweet, 6'6", was the top scorer for Rochester.

The team has three contests remaining, all at home. The first is with Hobart, tonight, at 8:30 p.m. The second is with Rochester on Tuesday, Feb. 26, at 8:30 p.m., and the last game will be played with Utica on Saturday, Mar. 2, at 4 p.m.

Hill Skaters Gain Year's First Win, Top Amherst, 2-1

Last Saturday, Hamilton's varsity hockey team defeated Amherst, 2-1, in overtime for the Continentals' first victory of the season.

Hamilton won the game, although the Continentals had troubles with Amherst's outdoor rink. The bright sun and the poor ice conditions hindered the Continentals.

Hamilton scored first in the first period when Walt Blake slammed in a shot for an unassisted goal. Amherst tied the score in the third period, and the game went into overtime. In the overtime period. Hamilton defenseman John Cookham scored the first goal of his career to give Hamilton a 2-1 victory.

Next Saturday, Mar. 2, the Continentals will travel to Williams for the final game of the season. The Continentals will be a definite underdog.

Williams, with an 8-9 record for the season, has defeated Ham-Hamilton twice, 6-0, in the Continentals' home opener, and 4-1 in the Brown Tournament during Christmas vacation. Williams is led by All-American Tom Roe, who is presently the East's leading scorer with 34 goals and 58 points on the season.

Syracuse University's School of Speech and Dramatic Art, in cooperation with the Experiment in International Living, is offering a course for credit, Contemporary British and Irish Theater.

Students in this program will engage in first-hand observation and study of the performing arts in Great Britain, with emphasis upon major achievements in the legitimate theater, the film and broadcasting.

The group will leave New York about July 15 and will return from Paris about August 29. Applications can be obtained from Summers Abroad, University College, 610 E. Fayette St., Syracuse 3, N.Y.

Dean Tolles announced this week the rate of attrition for the second semester. Twenty-five students who enrolled for the first semester did not return for the second. Of these, eight students withdrew during the term, nine withdrew at the end of the semester, and eight were dropped from school for "academic deficiency."

Tolles also said that three students who were not here during the first semester have enrolled for the second semester.
